The Wolfe Collection 1937-2016

Every stamp collection has a story to tell.

Stamps of the 1937 Coronation of King George VI inspired an 8 year old boy in Canada's West. And for the next 79 years stamps played a part in a lifetime of great energy. He went on to become respected and successful in his profession and was an active participant in the theatre, symphony, and opera worlds. Devoted to his family and contributing in other ways to charities and good works; his private refuge was his stamp collection.

Here he could examine stamps closely for re-entries, check for perforation changes, and look for paper varieties including tagging, fluorescence and other differences. In this pursuit he made a serious attempt to acquire all but the most expensive listed varieties in mint condition.

The result is an impressive collection.

Sparks Auctions took the time to offer this in as many lots as was practical. This will aid collectors and dealers to focus on an issue or single stamp or a new starting collection of some period. The very large number of varieties offered as single lots and in the remainder collections are a tribute to the decades which it took to build the collection. In addition to the single items and sets there are collection balances within the main body of the auction and an additional 45 balance and remainder lots at the end.

The collector looked for and appreciated sound and attractive stamps. Over the earlier decades as these were acquired the collecting standards for gum and centering were more relaxed. We wish you good hunting for the elusive stamps to be found in this collection.

897 */** #87h 1910 1c deep green King James I with Compound Perforations, Position 51-52 with ONE-CENT Variety, a unique mint pair with left hand stamp never hinged and right hand stamp having a spot of gum glazing, fresh and very fine. An essential item for a Gold Medal Exhibit.

Line perforating machines sometimes have loose perforating wheels which created varieties like #87e (horizontal pair imperforate between). At other times an alert pressman would take the finished sheet over to a perforating machine to correct the missing perforation holes, especially if the missing perfs were in the margins. These compound perforations occur occasionally on the stamps of PEI but rarely on the stamps of Newfoundland.

Scott and Unitrade both list (but do not price) #87h perf 12x12x12x11 suggesting that one or more examples are known perf 11 on the left hand side. That fact would fit with the assumption that the known examples come from column one. Yet, this pair proves that the compound perfs come from both the left (hence perf 12x11x12x12) and right of a row of perforations measuring 11 between column one and column two of the sheet.
